

G01 Review A - Protected After Attempt

Retail orders | diagnostic controls + targeted repair

Do not open before the corresponding Gate attempt is frozen.

Purpose

Use these reference controls to diagnose reasoning and validation gaps after your attempt. They are not a script to copy. After repair, close this Review and produce a changed proof independently.

Competency repair guide

K1 - If grain/key/source handling was weak, rebuild from a fresh copy. State one-row meaning and key before touching calculations.

K2 - If quality reasoning was weak, document each anomaly and the rule used. Do not delete/fill values simply because they look inconvenient.

K3 - If calculation/eligibility was wrong, separate population logic from arithmetic. Recompute two rows manually and prove formulas reference cells.

K4 - If summary/chart judgment was weak, state the requested comparison and output grain before choosing Pivot/chart/lookup mechanics.

K5 - If validation was weak, create a logically independent control path. A Pivot total checked against the same Pivot is not independent.

K6 - If evidence/explanation was weak, save actual before/after evidence and explain what you did, what could still be wrong and how you know the result is supported.

Common critical failure patterns

- Editing/deleting the frozen source or losing traceability to it.
- Inventing missing IDs/values or silently deleting a duplicate candidate without an explicit business rule.
- Using the wrong eligible population or hard-coding the requested result.
- Reporting a plausible result without independent validation/reconciliation.
- Opening/copying protected Review or another Gate answer during the active attempt.
- Claiming evidence, validation or work that was not actually performed/saved.

Repair route

Repair only the weak competency. Then, with this Review closed, complete a changed micro-task that proves the repaired skill. A full fresh Gate B/C is assigned only when broader reassessment is justified. Simply reading this Review never unlocks the next Gate.
